Why is Safeguarding important?

Sometimes, young people and suffer abuse from adults and/or other young people. Abuse can be physical, sexual, emotional or neglectful.
Abuse can happen at home, in others homes of friends and/or family, on social media, through gaming platforms and within the community we live in, including school. Our duty is to make sure everyone at Louth Academy is protected from abuse and harm.

What the Academy will do to keep young people safe.

To train all staff to identify abuse or neglect. To deal with all incidents that take place whether that be from adults or other young people.	Always listen and act upon concerns raised. Deal with them with the best interest of the child in mind. This may involve working with external agencies, including police, nurses social workers etc.	Teach young people what to do if they have worries about themselves or others safety.
Teach young people to keep themselves mentally and physically healthy.	Teach young people to stay safe in their community, including on line safety.	Teach all young people through their PSHE curriculum the fundamental British values which are directly related to safeguarding themselves and others.
